MAN DROWNS AT HOPEWELL; 2D OF YEAR

Texas Army Captain
Dies in Less
Than Hour

RESCUE EFFORTS FAIL TO REVIVE VICTIM

An Army captain became the second 1933 drowning victim at Hopewell lake, French Creek State park, yesterday afternoon.

The body of Capt. Wilbert J. Newsome, Indian town Gap Military reservation, was fished from six feet of water in the 65-acre lake by Lifeguard James Hepler, Reading, at 3:45 o'clock.

He was pronounced dead by a Philadelphia physician at 4:07 o'clock.

Investigating State police reported Newsome, a native of Houston Tex., was swimming at the big lake with a soldier buddy, Pfc. Newton McCravy Jr., when he slipped under the warm water.

First victim of the lake was James Plank, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Plank, 129 Walnut street, Birdsboro, who drowned this past June 15, a few days after graduation from Birdsboro High school.

Both victims were reported to be poor swimmers.

"He could hardly swim at all," Robert Burrows, Birdsboro RD 1, said of Plank after the Birdsboro youth was pulled from the water. McCravy said yesterday, while artificial respiration was being applied to his captain friend, "He said he could swim, but apparently he couldn't."

Park Superintendent Curtis English reported Newsome had eaten heavily before he went in the water.

English explained, "We couldn't use either of our resuscitators because he had eaten so much. We had to use them as inhalators and apply artificial respiration. We worked a lot of the food out of him but he just couldn't be saved."

DR. ARTHUR L. Warner, Philadelphia, who was visiting one of the organized camps at the park, applied artificial respiration and pronounced Newsome dead.

McCravy told authorities he was swimming from the shore to the buoy line approximately 200 feet out in the big lake. The captain was supposed to be following his friend.

When McCravy got to the

Evangelist Speaks As NAACP Starts Membership Drive

With a goal set at 150 new members, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People opened its 1934 membership campaign yesterday afternoon in the Mt. Hermon Baptist church, Stowe.

With the Rev. Ozie Garlington leading the literary program, the NAACP and members of the Pastor's Aid attended the service to hear the Rev. J. H. Hayes, traveling Evangelist of Philadelphia, speak on the theme, "This Is Not My Home."

In appealing to his audience, the Rev. Garlington urged all non-members to join the NAACP. He pointed out that the deadline for signing up new members has been set for Oct. 1.

Following the service one member was admitted into the organization and several other applications were received.

The Rev. Garlington, who is spiritual adviser to the group, said the organization now has 64 members. "We would like to add about 150 to 200 more names to the rolls before the drive ends," he explained.

Also taking part in the service were the Rev. A. L. Butler, Mrs. M. Williams, president of the Pastor's Aid, and Sister Odesa Garlington, soloist.

All Sun, No Rain

"This is what all sun and no rain can do to a lawn," says Edward Eschbach, 351 King street—and he points to the weeds and crabgrass that have sprung up in the drab wreckage of Spring's green carpet. Looking on are Bonnie and Debbie Eschbach, who seem to be wondering how weeds can stay green when the grass turns brown. The prolonged dry spell has been the despair of more than one homeowner, and many are resigned to the inevitable turf-repairing job that must be done this Fall if they want a smooth lawn next Spring.

EVERY BIT HELPS

Rain Breaks Dry Spell

An unpredicted rainfall made its debut in Pottstown yesterday morning.

The rain, which covered a large portion of the eastern part of the State, came as a blessing to city dwellers and farmers alike.

To the average Pottsonian, the rain broke the spell of the arid weather which has prolonged for nearly two weeks. It not only gave him physical relief but also gave his lawn some of the much-needed water it needs.

To the farmer, who especially welcomed the rain, the water gave his crops a boost, perhaps not enough to quench his crops' thirst, but enough to carry them through a few more days until another rain.

In explaining the wonderful trick of nature, the weatherman simply referred to the rainfall as a scattered shower.

ALTHOUGH rain fell in Pottstown yesterday, it was not welcome in Bethlehem where the Pottstown borough police tried their luck in a pistol match.

Six officers, Sgt. Thomas Lawler, Sgt. Russell B. Hummel, Stanley Borowy, John G. Paretti, Daniel Kegel and Sandy Loghi left Pottstown while skies still were clear.

By the time they reached the firing line at the Bethlehem Police Social club, the rains came.

Rain was blamed for their not placing a winner.

The rain welcomed by farmers did not satisfy the fruit grower. Robert Romig, manager of Ringing Hill orchards, and Alan T. Wright, of Trappe, reported that the rain was too little and too late.

Both growers blamed the weather for their small-sized early crop of peaches.

The later crop, however, should be all right, they added.

IN BOYERTOWN, where Sheldon W. Funk raises peaches, he reports that his orchard is in pretty good shape. Romig and Wright added, "Funk and the other farmers up there have been

Local Woman Dies, Husband Badly Hurt In Mid-West Crash

A Pottstown woman was killed and her husband critically injured in a Mid-West auto accident yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. John Huda, 52, of 826 South street, died instantly in a two-car collision near Pittsfield, Ill.

Her 45-year-old husband remained in critical condition in the Illinois hospital, Pittsfield, late last night.

A physician told a member of the family the driver of the ill-fated car cannot be moved for at least two weeks.

Hospital authorities reported Mrs. Huda suffered a broken back. The accident took place four miles east of Pittsfield and involved Huda's 1933 sedan and a car driven by Clifford Griffith, 24, St. Louis, who suffered severe internal injuries.

THE HUDAS were on their way to Macon, Mo., to visit her parents. From Macon they had planned to drive to Davenport, Ia., to visit a son and daughter.

Mrs. Huda, a utility worker at the Philadelphia Dry cleaners, worked there the past Friday.

Illinois State police called Pottstown to report the accident last night.

Mrs. Huda came to Pottstown in 1933.

The body was taken to a Pittsfield funeral home. It will be moved to the Fleischmann funeral home, 726 High street, early this week.

Mrs. Huda was born in Missouri, a daughter of D. F. Lucas. She came to Pottstown in 1933.

She is survived by three sons (Continued on Last Page)

Agents Seek Killer Of Area Dairy Cow

District game protectors are on the lookout for someone with a high powered 22-rifle who killed Mrs. Anna Henry's cow.

The story goes back to the past Thursday when someone took a pot shot at a cow and sent a bullet through its heart.

The 450-pound dairy cow, owned by Mrs. Henry, of Bally RD, was in pasture when the shot was fired.

District game Protector William Shaver, of Harleysville, and assistant Game Protector Richard E. Blair, 78 Warren street, investigated Saturday but found no evidence.

They said anyone who has information leading to the identity of the marksman should get in touch with them at once. All such information will be held in confidence, they added.

HEARINGS SET FOR AREA DRIVER

Charges on Wild Chase
Will Be Aired
Today

A Warwick Settlement motorist will be heard today on charges arising from a police chase early Saturday morning on both sides of the Schuylkill river.

Francis Levegood, 25, Pottstown RD 1, posted $15 bail on a disorderly conduct charge for today's hearing at 7 p. m. before Second Ward Justice of the Peace Raymond H. Kelley in borough hall.

Also five-hundred dollars bail has been posted for his appearance before North Coventry Justice of the Peace Ralph W. Ralston in South Pottstown on a charge of extinguishing his lights to avoid apprehension. The hearing will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Bail was provided by his brother, John D. Levegood, South Pottstown.

Amity Supervisors Meet

Amity board of supervisors Saturday ordered bills paid and briefly discussed the rebuilding of two small bridges in its area.

Meeting at the Amity High school, the short meeting was presided over by President Irwin Geiger. Also present was Norman Smith.

Annual Inspection Will Start Today for Area School Buses

Annual inspection of school buses in Montgomery county will begin this morning with those in the Pottstown area being the first to undergo the test.

Announcement was made by A. M. Kulp, county superintendent of schools, who also noted that seven days again will be set aside this year for the inspection.

Kulp explained in his letter to school transportation contractors, secretaries of school boards and persons in charge of private and parochial schools in the county that the inspection period will run from today until Aug. 11.

He pointed out that owners of school buses will be responsible for securing the data for inspections in regards to the operator's license, school bus operator's certificate and physical examination of the bus to be inspected.

IN MAKING out the schedule where the inspections will be held, Kulp warned the schedule must be adhered to without favor.

In order to make things convenient, the county has been divided into seven districts, one district for each day.

Included in district one, which will be the inspection area for today, are Pottstown, West Pottstown, Upper Pottstown, Lower Pottstown, Limerick township, New Hanover township, Douglass township and Royersford.

Inspections will be held today from 9 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. at North Hanover and District (Continued on Last Page)

SPICER UNION VOTES 9-1 TO STRIKE IF TALKS FAIL

SCHEDULES SET FOR PICKETS AT FLAGG COMPANY

Plant Will Suffer First Full Day of Idleness

Strike bound Stanley G. Flagg company, Stowe, will suffer its first full day of idleness today.

Picket schedules have been completed and at 7 o'clock this morning, dayshift starting time at the big plant, pickets will be on duty at the three entrances.

The strike officially began at 11 o'clock Saturday morning when second shift production workers left the plant. Token pickets went on duty then.

But full impact of the walk-out will not be felt until today. Production employees were not slated for work Saturday and yesterday.

President Clarence Matz of Flagg Local 2226, United Steel Workers (CIO), reported last night, "Pickets will serve on 4-hour shifts and there will be from 12 to 16 men divided among the three gates around the clock."

"We've got the steel workers bus set up on the parking lot adjacent to the plant."

"The next move is up to the company. We don't want any trouble. We want a quiet strike. They told us they would make no effort to operate if we went out. We're ready to sit down and renegotiate any time they're ready."

STANLEY P. Elliott, personnel director of Flagg's who attended three negotiating sessions, said, "There's no change since Friday." The company made a second offer in the Philadelphia office of Commissioner Arthur Adams, Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, on Friday. The offer provided for an 8 1/2% (Continued on Page Five)

St. Gabriel's Lodge Slates Annual Picnic

The annual picnic of St. Gabriel's lodge was scheduled for Sept. 6 at yesterday's meeting of the organization.

President Joseph Zangrilli reported that the affair will be held on the lodge grounds beginning in the afternoon. Actual starting time will be announced later.

Zangrilli also said the lodge has opened its campaign for new members. At yesterday's meeting seven new names were added to the organization's log.

About 50 members were present at the session held at the lodge.

Do You Remember?

Technical Engineers' Local Will Vote On New Bethlehem Wage Offer Tonight

30 days unless the firm came through with a better offer. Members refused the 5 percent offer this past July 6.

The union submitted a counter-proposal as provided in the contract, and this was rejected by the firm July 13. The strike vote followed three days later and a 30-day written notice was filed with the firm.

Commissioner George Doud of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation service, Philadelphia, called the past week's meeting.

Local President Alexander Downie reported after the meeting in Bethlehem, "We received a very much improved contract offer." He did not discuss the proposal since it had not been submitted to the membership.

THE COMPANY'S original offer consisted of a flat 5 percent wage increase.

The union, which is composed of 65 draftsmen and technical engineers, voted by a 3 to 1 majority this past July 16 to strike in

Fire Scare Caused By Broken Toaster, Good Wills Discover

It was only a burning toaster, but it chased the Good Will Fire company pumper through Saturday morning traffic.

A broken bread toaster failed to stop toasting. Smoke from burning bread floating throughout the home of Mrs. Iola Kuff, 149 King street.

She put bread in the pop-up toaster and went to the bathroom at 10 a. m.

When she came out of the bathroom she saw smoke drifting through the living room and kitchen.

She didn't know where the smoke was coming from. She ran outside and told a neighbor.

The neighbor called the fire company and Mrs. Kuff then returned to the kitchen and discovered the source of the smoke.

She pulled out the plug and her brother, Paul Smith, who is vacationing at her home, called the Good Wills and told them it was a false alarm. But the pumper already was enroute to the toaster.

The damage: a broken toaster and two charred pieces of bread.

600 Attend Picnic Held by Flagg Local

Labor problems were forgotten Saturday when members of Local 2226 USW (CIO) of the Stanley G. Flagg company gathered at Hartenstein's grove, Sanatoga road, for their picnic.

The gala get together, which began at noon and ended late in the evening, was attended by more than 600 persons. Musical entertainment and games highlighted the day.

Heading the picnic committee was Raymond Wilkinson.

Wilkinson also noted that the local will hold a music festival at St. Gabriel's lodge grounds Wednesday from 6 p. m. to 11 p. m.

446 Attend Picnic Staged by Firemen

A total of 446 members and friends of the Montgomery county Firemen's association attended a picnic Saturday at Montgomery County park.

The picnic supper was prepared by the Ladies auxiliary of the Green Lane Fire company.

Chairman of the picnic committee was Wilson H. Green, fire marshal for Montgomery county.

Among prize winners in contests were Joan Astheimer and Jane Astheimer, Royersford; George Methlie, Center Square, all racing. Others were George Clemens, Royersford, corn cob pipe race; Jane Pengelly, Limerick, and Joan Astheimer, three-legged race.

SHORTHAND CHAMPS NAMED MAINZ, Germany, Aug. 2 UP—By writing shorthand at 400 syllables per minute, Hans Knook and line Dews became the West German stenography champions today.

Spicer Manufacturing division employees yesterday voted better than 9 to 1 to strike the sprawling plant unless the company will increase rates on production jobs.

The bargaining committee of the Spicer Shop and Production unit of Amalgamated Local 644, United Auto Workers (CIO), will continue negotiations with the company for the next 60 days.

Members voted 472 to 51 in favor of a strike at the end of the 60-day period and authorized unit officers to call a strike if negotiations fail.

The more than 500 workers were told before they cast their ballots a percentage comparison of basis rates, was being studied.

THE COMPANY agreed to keep the big plant in Pottstown this past October after a series of Philadelphia conferences with the union.

Union men contend the firm wanted more production but agreed men should be permitted the same take-home pay.

A regional CIO official told members he is studying rates before and after the Philadelphia agreement and since, retiming in the respective shops.

He contended production was increased just after the Philadelphia meeting.

Workers have asked the 142.5 percentage of basic rates, which prevailed prior to the Fall agreement, be restored.

CHAIRMAN Blair F. Miller, previously reported the new average basic rates for jobs re-timed to date (Continued on Page Five)

Man, 50, Mistaken For Groundhog, Shot To Death by Brother

A man was shot and killed by his brother while both were hunting groundhogs on a Chester Springs farm on Saturday.

The dead man, Obie Walter Ellison, 50, Philadelphia, was squatting in dense bushes watching several groundhog holes when the bullet from his brother's 22 caliber rifle caught him in the back of the head.

The brother, David Lee Ellison, 54, told Chester county coroner Creston Shoemaker that he was walking along the bushy fence-row when he mistook his brother's brown cap for a groundhog and fired.

District Game Protector Edward Joseph Fasching, Downingtown, who was called to the scene by Paoli State police, said that the younger brother was killed instantly at 1:15 p. m., by a hollow-

2 Men Plead Guilty To Brawl Charges

Two men pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct Saturday morning and each paid $17.50 fines and costs to Seventh Ward Justice of the Peace Richard H. Cadmus.

Vincent C. Golden, Phoenixville, and Elwood Dennis, Ranshaw, Pa., were arrested at 1:38 a. m. Saturday by Motor Patrolman Robert Scheidt and Patrolman William Myers.

They were committed to the borough lockup and held there until the hearing, which originally was scheduled for Second Ward Justice Raymond C. Kelley.

Golden, a member of the Navy, requested the hearing be held as soon as possible.

The two men were arrested following a fight on South Hanover street, near High street.

Pottstown's oldest storefront, Bunting's at High and Hanover streets, will be hidden from view of passers-by for the next three weeks while workmen give it a face lifting. When the boarding comes down again, the store will have white brick walls, a single show window on High street instead of two, and a new entrance in the corner of the building. Bunting's has been doing business at High and Hanover for 162 years, and this is the first big change on the corner since 1874, when the store was completed. Customers will be let in the back door during the alterations.

Church Votes Big Renovation Project

Trinity Reformed To Renovate Rooms, Provide More Space

Trinity Reformed church members voted yesterday to begin a big renovation project in their church.

The project will include rearranging and improving both the rooms of the Sunday school and of Fellowship hall.

Decision to go ahead with the work was made at a special congregational meeting in the Sunday school room after the morning worship service in the church.

The improvement plans include renovations in the main Sunday school room and provision of six classrooms, a choir room, a private study for the pastor, a combined church and Sunday school office and a church parlor on the first floor.

Better lavatory facilities also will be installed on the first floor and in the children's department.

By using new portable partitions, rooms will be provided in Fellowship hall for the junior and intermediate Sunday school departments. Removal of the partitions will allow the entire room to be used for social and recreational purposes.

A storage room for church records and a room for janitor's supplies are among the rooms to be added.

The newly-created rooms will get acoustical ceilings new lights and improved floors, too.

Fear not, but trust in Providence, wherever thou mayst be.—Thomas Haynes Bayly.

Hungry Germans
The stream of Germans crossing the border into West Berlin to carry home "Eisenhower food packages" has nailed one big Communist lie in full sight of the world. The Red bosses of East Germany have insisted there is no hunger there.

The Reds began to get tough the past week. They seized a few of the packages and took the owners' names. They may get tougher, but President Eisenhower's shrewd stroke in offering the food is a headache for them. And it is a headache for which the standard Communist cure is dangerous.

Usually when satellite Oliver Twists lift their voices in hunger, it is easy to crack down on them behind the Iron Curtain. If too many complain, the people can be momentarily appeased by tossing them a bone and making scapegoats of a few politicians.

The difficulty with this treatment is that it cannot be done quietly in the East German version of the workers' paradise. There is a large hole in the Iron Curtain at Berlin. Everybody outside can see the long lines of hungry East Germans seeking American food.

This makes Walter Ulbricht and his fellow Red German stooges look silly. Any hunger in East Germany makes its Communist regime look silly. Although it is the smaller half of divided Germany, this area was a big food producer for the rest of the country before the Communists came along.

There had been a series of good crop years, but Communist bungling failed to make the most of these. When 1952 produced a mediocre crop, calamity followed. Food shortage had been chronic in East Germany for years. Within the last nine months or so it has become acute.

Communist policy is far more responsible than nature. There has been pressure to collectivize agriculture, although the Reds have not dared go as far with this in Germany as elsewhere.

The abler farmers have been penalized, simply because they are better off. Forced collection of food, endless regulation and the dislike of Germans for their government have all contributed to lost production.

The steady pressure of Moscow for heavy industrial production has been at the expense of food and other consumer goods. A top-heavy bureaucracy and political police force has been favored at the trough. The result has been rationing and long and angry queues of East Germans trying in vain to buy food or other goods.

All this boiled over into the rioting and industrial and agricultural sabotage that has shaken East Germany in recent weeks. There have been wholesale arrests and some severe punishment. There is big talk from the party faithful about taking even firmer steps.

But so far the regime has been relatively mild compared with Communist behavior in other satellites. The Red German stooges are well aware that the great majority of the people like neither them nor their Russian masters. They are unhappily aware that their very government is a fraud itself.

The Reds seized power in East Germany by forcing moderate left-wing voters to unite with Communists in forming a workers' coalition, the Social Unity party. The Russian occupation forces were perfectly aware at the time that Communists alone could no more win a majority than could Gen. Sherman in Georgia.

Later the hard core Communists picked off their collaborators one by one until early this year they were safe in taking off the mask and flaily calling the Social Unity coalition the Communist party. Despite overwhelming "victories" in one-state elections, the people are not behind them and they know it.

Faced with growing rebellion, the Communist government may go to whatever extreme moves necessary to save its hide in East Germany. But it is extremely doubtful that they could keep control without a degree of Russian help that would destroy any lingering fiction that East Germany is an independent state.

PUNKIN CORNERS.

Dear Sir—N Brother:
Wal, I see what some sportin' writers are sayin' the National league has better baseball players than the American. What's the idea of stirrin' up another fuss just when we got peace in Korea?

The corn is comin' along pretty good out here. It's almost as high as Grandpappy Jenkins' weeds, which means they can cut it soon.

A survey has shown that TV has increased piano playin' in the home. Why shore! There ain't no commercials with home piano playin', and the folks are gettin' wise.

Fair Increases Endorsed
To the Editor: As a person who rents a house, I certainly agree with your editorial asking landlords to be reasonable if they feel they have to increase rents when rent control ends.

I do not think any of us will object to a slight increase in cases where rents have been held below a fair price. But I think that landlords who try to make a killing not only will be acting selfishly but also will be in for a surprise.

The day when housing was so short that people had to pay what was asked and like it, is over. Very few of us have too much extra money in our pockets these days, but we all know how to find the telephone number of a moving man.

Calls for Showdown
To the Editor: Great mouthings have been so distorted, misquoted, and corrupted by blackguards in this world that they have lost all vestige of meaning. The sayings of great men, repeated by political opportunists and frauds, have destroyed noble sentiments.

Exactly that was done by one of your writers ("Listener," Readers Say, July 20). He said he disagrees with the SPCA's arguments favoring a dog pound but that he is in favor of the SPCA's hollering.

The idiot says that if groups stop hollering — no matter how stupidly — America will "be in bad shape."

INTERPRETIVE
Question Raised on UN Admission of Red China

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The truce in Korea has strengthened speculation about eventual recognition of a Red but more co-operative China and possible admission of that country to membership in the United Nations.

Although President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles avoid specific discussion of this national and international problem, they have never ruled it out of their long-range calculations. Their attitude worries the so-called "China lobby," including Senator William F. Knowland of California, Acting Majority leader and bearer of the cloak room cognomen of "Senator From Formosa."

It is known that the question was brought up when French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, and Lord Salisbury, Churchill's spokesman, visited here several weeks ago to prepare for a formal conference with Moscow. It will undoubtedly be raised at that meeting, although it may not suit Russian divide-and-rule strategy to see improved relations between the United States and Red China.

In urging closer diplomatic and commercial ties with the Mao Tse-tung regime, the hard-headed British, the realistic French and Prime Minister Nehru of India, a "plague on both your houses" character, paraphrase the answer of Sir George Mallory, the late near-conqueror of Everest. When he was asked why he risked his life in scaling that peak, he replied: "Because it is there." China, Europe says, "is there."

WANT CHINA'S TRADE: Allies and neutrals insist that the U.S. cannot disregard, forget or neglect the fact that Mao Tse-tung does control this vast, undeveloped land of 400 million people.

The British, the Japanese, South America, Western Europe and India—all need and want this trade. Recent statistics show that in the first quarter of 1953, NATO nations did twelve times as much business with China as they did in the same 1952 period.

Number 10 Downing street and Quai d'Orsay advance other reasons for US recognition. A change in our attitude, they argue, need not connote approval of Chinese policies and practices. They point out that we maintain contact with Russia, Yugoslavia, Spain and Argentina, despite disapproval of their undemocratic ways.

BRITISH PREMIER'S VIEWS: Churchill views the Korean armistice and subsequent political talks as a possible approach to an over-all solution of the Far Eastern fracas. He seeks to safeguard Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaya, Australia and New Zealand against possible invasion by Chinese Reds.

In a memo on Eisenhower's desk, Bidault asks that no permanent Korean peace pact be approved and no American troops be withdrawn from the beleaguered peninsula, until France and China reach a settlement on Indo-China warfare.

Nehru casts anxious eyes toward the advances which Russia and her Chinese cohorts are now making in Tibet and in other countries on India's Northern border. Thus, neutrals and friends in the cold war exert every possible influence for reversal of the Truman-Acheson attitude toward China.

Syngman Rhee and Chiang Kai-shek apparently have forebodings of a change of heart at Washington. Far from wanting a modus operandi with Peiping, Rhee insists that we renew the war, if the truce palavers become stalemated. Chiang suggests that we use the peaceful interlude to forge a far-flung Pacific defense alliance, including his Formosa-stranded Government.

He ends by paraphrasing—and vulgarizing—the words of a great Frenchman by saying, "I don't agree with a word of what you're hollering about but I will fight to the death for your right to holler."

I'm sick of frauds making that statement. None of them would have an iota of the courage needed to carry out their threat. And just to prove it, I throw down the gauntlet to this knave. If he's so strongly convinced, let him show up at the corner of High and Hanover street at 9 p. m. on the night of Aug. 7 near the police box.

The fight will not be "to the death" of course. But it will test the cowardice of a person who lays claim to great men's mouthings without ever beginning to understand the significance or meaning behind a great idea. Marilyn Monroe Writes:
I'm going to pull a typically female stunt. I'm going to prop a mirror in front of the typewriter and try a Monroe story myself. Now, this isn't going to be one of those Don't-believe-what-you've-heard—This-is-what-I'm-really-like stories. But it will be an objective look at Marilyn Monroe by Marilyn Monroe.

I think this is as good a time as any. I'm not unaware that my career is approaching a peak.

First, for the records: I consider myself a lucky girl. When 20th Century-Fox put me under contract three years ago I was no better an actress than I was four years earlier when I couldn't find a job. I weighed then as I do now, 118 pounds. I was 5 feet 5½ inches tall, had blonde hair and blue eyes. These statistics haven't changed. I was trying to get a break in pictures and—if you can understand this—I was scared of the very thing I sought. Today I'm still scared—I just hide it better. Seven years ago I was hungry and couldn't pay my room rent. Today I'm well paid and photographers stop me to take pictures.

IT HAS been said before that I'm trying to "find myself." I guess that's true. The usual goal is to achieve as much happiness as possible and for a woman, the worth-

The Worry Clinic
By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CHARLES W. ROTH is director of police education at Toledo, Ohio.

"Dr. Crane, we read your column religiously," he began, "and advise all of our police students to do likewise."

"Up to 30 percent of our police cadets have already had some college work."

"For example, some of our men have attended Northwestern university, Purdue, Ohio State, the University of Michigan, Toledo University, Bowling Green University, University of Chicago, FBI school, etc."

"Then we offer our own special training as shown by the curriculum of our Toledo Police academy."

WOULDN'T YOU READERS like to know the wide range of topics which these modern police officers study?

Under specialists they receive practical and intensive training in criminal law, functions of the appellate, probate and supreme courts.

They study civics and scientific crime detection, plus finger printing and all the other modern aids to crime analysis.

Some 110 class hours are devoted to physical education, military courtesy, firearms, chemical warfare and combat tactics.

But they also have intensive courses in obstetrics, for modern police officers must be versatile men. They often are called upon to serve in lieu of doctors to deliver babies and administer first aid.

THE AVERAGE college graduate will blush with shame at his own lack of practical knowledge when he realizes that the policeman receives special instruction in criminal pathology, including autopsies and special courses by the coroner.

He also gets lectures on abnormal psychology, including insanity and its relation to crime.

Safety education and traffic ordinances also are included, with an internship of actual traffic duty of 80 hours.

Then he receives instruction in the functions of the FBI, as well as the Internal Revenue Department.

He has specialists teach him about Counterfeit Money, as well as Narcotics, US mail frauds, etc.

Every American should proudly salute his police force because of their diligent efforts to protect all honest upright citizens.

Plans call for tossing Cyd Charisse, Leslie Caron and Betty St. John into same. Arthur Freed produces.

Out of sick bay and able to start "French Line" today is Jane Russell. We caught the "Gents Prefer Blondes" preview and found it fun. Jane and M. Monroe are more than an eye-ful. But how come the hideous color-combinations in the "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend" number that Marilyn does so well? Call The Cops...
Watch Your Pants...

★ LET'S TALK ABOUT burglars today. Prof. Richard L. Holcomb, who heads a bureau of police science, has issued some choice bits on burglars, home protection and that sort of thing which may save you some money, some fright and perhaps the embarrassment of a break-in.

For instance, do you know what you should do if a ruck is suddenly pitched through your bedroom window in the middle of the night? First thing to do, even before you turn on the lights, is to call the cops. Burglars very often toss bricks through windows just to see if anybody is home or not. As soon as you turn on the lights you usually scare the intruder away. If you have called the police first, very often they can arrive in time to nab him.

THE MATINEE BURGLAR may also pose as a peddler or a salesman and gain entrance that way and then steal anything he can lay his hands on during the visit. An example of the way he works is this—he doesn't start his work until you've made a purchase and go to another part of the house for change. He frequently carries a sample case and into that drops the items from your household that appeal to him.

★ THERE'S STILL another type of daytime burglar who sizes up a place by pretending to be a salesman, a utility company representative, a building inspector or a real estate man. He's simply using his ruse to enter your home to get the lay of the land so he can return later, usually at night, and not have to fumble around during his burglary operations. He may also use the trick of trying to locate somebody in the neighborhood. You have confidence in his story, tell him to come in, and that's exactly what he wanted.

THE BURGLAR WHO operates during parties is one to watch for. He knows that very often guests all leave their hats, coats and purses in one room of the house. Guests are often making so much noise elsewhere that the burglar can operate easily in the bedroom. This is the type who is out after only one kind of loot—the stuff he finds lying on the bed. Rarely will he take time to go through bureau drawers or closets.

★ ANOTHER COMMON trick is for the burglar to call his intended victim on the telephone. If he gets no answer he assumes the place is safe to enter. Many nighttime burglars like to have you doing something that makes noise, not only so you can't hear him enter and carry on his trade, but so he can keep track of you and what you're doing. He may choose to work during the time a particular radio or television program is going on. He assumes that all members of the family will be occupied and that can give him 10 or 15 minutes when he can be fairly certain he won't be interrupted.

MEN WHO HANG their trousers in the vicinity of bedroom windows are inviting trouble. One very favorite burglary method is to reach through open windows and do a quick snatch.

★ THERE'S ANOTHER favorite trick of burglars who work apartment houses. They usually work in pairs. The first one breaks into an apartment after determining the occupant isn't at home. His accomplice remains in the vestibule and puts a dummy letter in the mailbox of the victim. He then hangs around and the minute somebody opens that mailbox, he buzzes the apartment as soon as the occupant has left the vestibule. That gives ample warning to his partner working upstairs.

YOUR HEALTH
By HERMAN N. RUDESEN, M.D.

INSTEAD OF being the relief-giving, sleep-promoting help they were at one time, the barbiturate drugs when wrongly used have been turned into a menace.

Originally, barbiturate drugs could be purchased without a prescription and so were used indiscriminately.

About three billion doses of them are employed every year in the United States alone. However there are now state and federal laws which limit the sale of these drugs only to persons who have physicians' prescriptions.

Nevertheless, now and then people use the barbiturate drugs that were obtained through a prescription in improper ways. It has been estimated that one out of every two thousand persons admitted to hospitals in the United States has taken an overdose of the barbiturate drugs.

To counteract this alarming state of affairs, efforts have been made to find a combination of drugs that would offer some degree of protection for the person who may take an overdose of the barbiturates.

A drug known as pentylenetetrazol has been discovered which, when combined with the barbiturate drugs, interferes to some extent with the serious effects that overdoses cause.

It is interesting to note that pentylenetetrazol, when administered alone in dosages that are used in combination with the barbiturates, can cause a great deal of discomfort. However, the combination of both drugs seems to neutralize their poisoning effect.

Suicide with the barbiturate drugs is almost impossible when they are combined with this new agent.

Also, the effect of small dosages of barbiturates are not altered, and they can be used for their usual medical purposes when prescribed by a doctor.

An interesting fact, also, is that the fuzziness and hangover that a person may experience after taking an overdose of a barbiturate drug is more or less eliminated by the use of this new combination.

The company said the offer was identical to the settlement made by the rest of the steel industry.
William Robbins, staff representative, said the offer was not enough because Flagg employees are 9 cents below the national level and in the case of certain skilled workers more than 9 cents below national figures.
THE UNION asked for a pension plan and a co-operative wage evaluation system (CWS) accepted through the industry.
The company said it would study both requests.
The union contended the firm had made no commitment on either request.
Local 226 initially asked for a minimum wage of $1.52 per hour with increments of 5 cents for job advancement above the minimum.
At Friday's session the union modified its demands to $1.43 and 5 cent increments for the current contract and $1.52 and 5 cent increments to be effective at the end of the contract year, July 31, 1954.
The current minimum at the plant is $1.34 cents per hour.
The company initially offered a 4 percent increase for production workers and 3 percent for piece work. This was followed with Friday's 8 1/2-cent offer.

Milk production records are kept on only about five percent of the cows in the United States.

Mennonite Nuptial Rites Link Dorothy Simmons and N. James Gehman

Hereford Mennonite church was and Mrs. Norman Gehman, Allen Shelly, pastor. Escorted down the aisle by her brother, the bride was attired in white lace and satin. Her ballerina length gown featured a stand up collar and long pointed sleeves over the wrists. The skirt was full with two layers of lace spread layer of satin. She wore white slippers fitted snugly over her hair was a cap made of the same material as her gown. On it were scattered orange blossoms and it anchored a cascading shoulder length veil. Clipped in her hand was a white Bible topped with white roses. Her maid of honor was Anna Simmons. She was dressed in an ice blue lace gown with a strapless bodice and jacket. The skirt was full and featured lace netting. She carried a bouquet of roses. Best man was Robert Gehman. Ushers were John Simmons and Henry Ochmen. Following the ceremony, a wedding reception was staged in the church basement. Table favors were little bells and orange blossoms. Mother of the bride was attired in navy blue with white accessories. The mother of the groom also wore navy blue with accessories of the same color. An alumnus of Boyertown High School the bride was employed by the Longacre dairies. Her husband is a graduate of Allentown High school and works in a state sanitarium. When they return from their honeymoon trip to the New England states they will reside at Boyertown, Pa. For her going away outfit the bride wore a light blue dress with white hat.

Betty Lou Swavely Wears White Satin and Lace to Become the Bride Saturday Of Robert Crance, Former New York Man, at Ceremony in St. James Lutheran

Betty Lou Swavely became the bride of Robert Crance, 1236 High Street, at an afternoon wedding ceremony Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Swavely, Sanatoga, are the parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. William Crance, Weavertown, N. J. and the late Mr. Crance.

Scene of the wedding was St. James Lutheran church. The Rev. Edgar S. Horn, pastor, officiated at the ceremony. Before and during the ceremony, organist Thelma Richards played a recital of wedding music. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white lace, satin and tulle. Her fitted bodice was made of lace and cut with an illusion neck line, faced with sheer tulle. Outlining the neckline was a pertha of lace flowers. Sleeves were long and tapered, forming points at the wrists. Over layers of satin, the full skirt of nylon tulle extended into a train. It was appliqued with a scattering of lace flowers. White satin slippers shod the bride's feet and for something borrowed she clasped her sisters pearls about her throat. For something blue she wore a blue garter, and her stockings courted as "something old". Her headpiece was a bonnet of nylon and tulle, outlined with seed pearls. It anchored a fingertip veil of illusion net. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and lily of the valley, tied with a shower of white ribbon. Phyllis Scheffey, Sanatoga, acted as the maid of honor. Yellow was the hue of her strapless gown, designed with a bodice of lace and a ballerina skirt of tulle. net over bouffant satin. Matching lace formed the short-sleeved bolero she wore, and net slippers were white. Upon her head she wore a heart shaped bonnet of white which sported an eyelash veil.

Brude-maids were Erna Grunder, Stowe, and Jane Neiffer, Sanatoga. Their gowns and boleros were fashioned identically to the honor attendant's: Erna's in aqua, Jane's in lavender. Each bridesmaid also wore a heart collar of white, and slippers of white. All three of the bride's attendants carried bouquets of lavender and white carnations. Best man for the benedict was his brother, Donald Crance, Lebanon. Michael Fern and Bruce Roberts, both of Pottstown, were ushers. After the ceremony, a reception for more than 100 guests was held in the Sanatoga Grange hall. For the occasion, the receiving rooms were hung with white wedding bells and pink and white streamers. Centered on the bride's table was a four-tiered cake frosted white and topped with a miniature bride and groom. To take her place in the receiving line, the mother of the bride chose a street-length gown of white lace and net. Its fitted lace bodice sported a row of rhinestone buttons, and her very full skirt spread over a layer of taffeta. She completed her costume with red accessories and a corsage of red roses. The mother of the groom was attired in an afternoon dress of navy blue, with which she wore matching accessories. Like the bride's mother, she pinned to her shoulder a corsage of red roses. Tomorrow, the bride and groom will leave for Atlantic City, N. J., where they will spend a week-end honeymoon. For her going-away costume, the bride will don a nylon print frock, burnt orange flowers upon a white background. Her accessories will be white. Upon their return, the newlyweds will be at home at their apartment in Sanatoga. The bride was graduated from Pottstown High school with the class of 1953. Currently she is employed in the office of the United States Aisle company. Her husband studied at schools in New York state. He is employed by the Sepeco corporation in Pottstown.

Emigres Here from Bonfeld, Germany Hold a Reunion

There is in the state of Wurttemberg, Germany, a small village known as Bonfeld.

It was here many years ago that the thought of adventure and the thrill of a new life in a new land took possession of a few families.

They set out to sea and landed in America.

Now they are scattered in many states, but quite a few are in the Eastern part of the country, making it possible for them to meet once a year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Schutz.

From Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia in Pennsylvania, the families arrive to meet on the Atlantic farm in Eaglesville.

Yesterday marked another in the series of such reunions of the families from Bonfeld.

The rain dampened the activities and it was all but 4 p. m. before they were able to gather and hold their familiar coffee klatch.

There is a fire place in the Schutz pavilion and hot dogs, hamburgers and hot stew were served there along with cold drinks and the regular picnic trimmings.

After the meal everyone gathered around to sing the old and familiar folk songs from home.

Lydia Dietter also was present for the reunion. She is visiting in America for two months and will return to Bonfeld Aug. 26.

She brought greetings from home and also messages from friends and relations who were just as interested to know about the families living in America as those present at the reunion were in knowing of activities in their old home.

Every time the group meets, they hold a collection and the money is sent to the village church.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Ritter were the ones present from the farthest distance. They traveled from Springfield, Conn.

Others attending included: Walter Ritter, Newark, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Salomon and daughter Sandy, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sanders, Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Schnabel, N. Y.; Anna Marie Schnabel, Queens Village, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on Page Eight)

Two Ursinus Graduates Exchange Wedding Vows in Collegeville Rites

The Rev. John Van Stone united in marriage two Ursinus graduates, Mary Charlotte Schoenly, 362 Main street, Collegeville, and Edward J. Noel, Spruce street, Williamsburg, Pa., Saturday.

St. Eleanor's church, Collegeville, was the scene of the double ring ceremony and the altar was decked with ferns and white flowers.

Seated at the organ was Mrs. Albert Zvarick. She accompanied Theresa Flack, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Otto Schoenly and the late Mrs. Schoenly.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. James Noel.

Escorted down the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in a nylon embroidered gown.

It was designed with a strapless bodice and a jacket to match.

The skirt was full and ended in a short train. It was floor length.

Snuggly fitted over her hair was a cap of pleated nylon tulle. Cascading from it was a fingertip veil.

Cradled in her arm was a bouquet of white roses, centered with a white orchid and streamers of ivory.

Acting as maid of honor was Marjorie Schoenly, sister of the bride.

She was costumed in a ballerina length lace gown, featuring a strapless bodice, with stole and full skirt, edged with embroidery.

The headpiece was a short face veil and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Bridesmaids were Marguerite Spencer, Norwood; Marie Johnson, Atlantic City, N. J., and Theresa Flack, Trappe.

They were dressed identically to that of the maid of honor with the exception of the color.

They wore yellow gowns, while she was attired in lavender.

Thomas Madara served as the best man.

Ushers were Paul Charleston East, N. Y., Jack Humbert Reading and Frank Glenn, Pleasantville, N. J.

After the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's father, at 362 Main street, Collegeville.

Honey moon destination for the couple is the New England states for one week.

When they return they will re-side in an apartment in Palmyra, Pa. For her going away costume the bride was dressed in a sleeveless blue linen dress, with a full skirt and black accessories.

Both bride and groom are graduates of Ursinus college.

The bride is employed as a school teacher in Palmyra High school, while her husband works for the Philco company.

Jean Derecola Is Surprised With Party to Announce Her Troth To Become the Bride of Vincent Raffeo in St. Aloysius Church

Slightly twisting the usual order of things, an engagement announcement party was held recently to surprise, not the guests, but the bride-elect.

Rose Derecola announced the betrothal of her daughter, Jean Derecola, at the surprise festivities in her home at 366 Cherry street.

BETROTHED—Jean Derecola, pictured above, will become the September bride of Vincent Raffeo, it was announced by her mother, Rose Derecola. The engagement was disclosed during a surprise party at the Derecola home in Cherry street. The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Raffeo. The wedding will take place in St. Aloysius church.

She will become the bride of Vincent Raffeo, Norristown.

Vincent entertained his bride-to-be at dinner in the Blossom restaurant while the guests were gathering in her home.

The pair returned to Cherry street to find the party in full swing.

Those present were told the wedding was set for Sept. 27, and the ceremony will be conducted in St. Aloysius Roman Catholic church.

Parents of the benedict elect are Mr. and Mrs. Gus Raffeo, Sandy street, Norristown.

Guests who were present at the party included Mr. and Mrs. Gus Raffeo, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Raffeo, Mr. and Mrs. John Raffeo and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Raffeo and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Raffeo, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Storti and family, Anthony Marchese, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Derecola and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Derecola and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Derecola and family, Jose Derecola, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Derecola and family, Mr. and Mrs. Al DiGiuseppe, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Saguella and daughter, Dolly Raffeo and Samuel Salome.

The bride elect attended Pottstown High school. At present she is employed by the Pottstown Shirt factory.

Her fiancé studied at schools in Norristown and attended Norristown High school.

Quiet Wedding Ceremony Read by the Rev. L. A. Krouse Joins In Marriage Janet Wolf and Groom William P. Ibach, Pharmacist

Simple nuptials performed Saturday in Emmanuel Lutheran church joined in marriage Janet Wolf, Pottstown, and William P. Ibach, Shillington.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Wolf, 944 Chestnut street, are the parents of the bride.

Parents of the benedict are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ibach, who reside at 2 West Lancaster ave. in Shillington.

Officiating at the quiet service was the Rev. Luther A. Krouse, pastor of the church.

Matron of honor for the bride was Mrs. James Rhoads, North Penn.

Her husband, James Rhoads, served as best man and was the only other attendant.

After the service, the bridal party and immediate families were entertained at Lakeside Inn.

The bride and groom will make their home at 60 Fourth street.

Shillington, after they return from a short honeymoon trip in the Pocono mountains.

Formerly employed as a secretary at the Columbia Butler company in Pottstown, the bride studied at Pottstown schools.

Her husband attended schools in Shillington and was graduated from the Philadelphia College of Science and Pharmacy.

At the present time he is employed as a pharmacist in Ibach's Drug store in Shillington.

BROTHER and SISTERS—

all on the same team!

Even on a quick trip through the telephone buildings in Allentown, you'd be likely to see at least one member of the Spengler family.

It might be Kathryn (now Mrs. Kathryn Klingler), who supervises the preparation of information and other records. It might be Bill, a Navy veteran who is an expert on maintenance of customers' switchboards. It might be Jane Ann, who prepares payroll records in our District Plant Office.

Throughout Pennsylvania, you'll find family after family in which, as in the case of the Spenglers, telephone work is a tradition. It is people like this... alert, competent people... who make your telephone service so dependable in emergencies so useful every day in the year.

It is the combined efforts of these men and women that help make good telephone service even better keep costs under control.

Trojan Gridders Open 10-Game Card At Lansdale Sept. 18

The Pottstown High school football team will be in action only four times at home this year. All the other games of the ten-game schedule are away.

Six of the Trojans' games will be played under the lights. All night games will start at 8 o'clock.

The first four games will be played with non-league opponents: Lansdale, Upper Merion, Ridley Township, a newcomer to the schedule this year, and Norristown.

The final six games of the year will all be against Ches-Mont league teams: Phoenixville, West Chester, Berwyn, Coatesville, Bridgeport and Downingtown.

Coach Heler T. Meyers' proteges will play four Thursday games this year. All of them will be night games with the exception of the final game of the season on Nov. 26, when the kickoff will be at 10:15 a. m.

THERE WILL be only three games on Saturday afternoon, all of them starting at 2:15. The Friday games are all under the lights. The squad will begin practice in a few weeks.

Cardinalettes Split Pair Over Weekend; Beat Baer Park, 4-0

The Pottstown Cardinalettes had a busy weekend. Saturday they topped the Baer Park Chicks of Reading, 4-0, and dropped a close one, 5-4, to the Linden, N. J., Arians yesterday.

In Saturday's game, Cardinalette hurler Jean Hecht walked none, fanned six and gave up only two hits, as the Cards did all their scoring in the first three innings, then settled down to blank the Chicks for the rest of the way.

Mary Jane Delp, Pottstown right fielder, backed up her teammates by slugging out a three-bagger.

On Sunday, the Cardinalettes were home at Monocacy to play a thriller against the Arians in a game which saw the score tied for four innings.

THE CARDINALETES took a one-run lead in the first, but then the Linden team exploded for four big ones in the top of the second. In the bottom of that inning, the local girls fought back, pushed across three runs, and knotted the score at 4-4.

It remained that way until the top of the seventh, when the Arians pushed across the last run of the game to squeeze out their victory.

Lois Adams, Cardinalette short stop who had a triple, drove in three runs. Jane Nusse and Dot Bell, both of the Arians, also had three-baggers.

Flagg, UAW Play Important CIL Game; Anderson, Shelly Wage Bating Duel

The outcome of the City Industrial league race hinges on tonight's game between Flagg and UAW, 6:4, at Franklin field at 6 o'clock.

Percentage-wise, Flagg is at the top of the standings with .812. The Workers have won one more game and lost one more — UAW stands 10-3, Flagg 9-2—and have a .769 average.

A win for Flagg would just about sew up the league pennant, although the two teams must still meet in another game on Thursday. A victory for Chick Hawk's team would throw added importance on the later contest.

Not only will the league championship be decided this week, but also a photo finish for the batting title has developed.

Amvets' Harry Anderson currently holds the lead by a single point. His .425 mark shades Ken Shellenberger's .424. Anderson has only one game in which to boost his record, that will be Tuesday night against Valley Forge.

Shellenberger, veteran Flagg first baseman, plays three more games.

Another member of the Flagg team who ranks a good chance of overhauling the leaders is slugger Lou Millard. Although Millard leads the league in extra base hits, it has been his recent spurge of singles that upped his BA to .396.

Lou tops the league in several departments. He has driven in the most runs, 13, belted out the most hits, 19, and is tie with St. John's Joe Sendekki for the triple lead with two. Millard has five extra base hits, two doubles and two home runs have been socked in league play by a dozen different batters.

Dave Ricketts and Wills Kulp lead the pack with four doubles apiece. Both of the UAW sockers have unique batting records. Kulp has four hits, all doubles, and Ricketts has hit for two bases four out of five times he hit safely.

Rod Cannel, who was flirting with the 500 for several weeks has dropped to .371. Last fourth in the league, Flagg's Smokey Rish in addition to being one of the loop's best hurlers, has a hot hitting streak going and is up to .366, fifth in the league.

GRESH DEFEATED the Workers the past Monday and may again be manager Al Ramsdell's choice. If not, Jim Mull will probably get the call.

Hawk has quite a selection to choose from. Dave Reidenouer has the best record in the league, .50, but in relief against Flagg he was hit hard. Kulp started last week but wildness got him all kinds of trouble.

Dave Ricketts finished out the game by pitching two scoreless innings. Dick Ricketts is also ready, leaving Hawk with the kind of problem most managers pray for until they actually have to solve it.

Dick Ricketts has been hitting at a terrific clip during the short time he has been playing in the league. He has been blistering the ball at a .615 pace with eight hits in his 13 plate appearances.

RED BUDNICK, also hindered by too few games to rate batting championship consideration, has hit safely half of his 16 times at bat.

The past Monday, both teams were practically at full strength. Only Flagg shortstop Merrill Hook was absent and Richie Nester filled in without a flaw.

Although Flagg won the first meeting of the two clubs, 11-3, another such runaway hardly seems possible.

A black and white photograph of a vintage car, possibly a Ford Model T, parked in front of a rough stone wall. A sign is mounted on the wall above the car, featuring the text 'LO BILL' in a large, stylized font, with 'CMXVII' written below it in a smaller font. The car is dark-colored with a light-colored roof rack. The scene is captured in a high-contrast, grainy style.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"PAPA," A YOUNG CO-ED assured her father, "I know you're misjudging Harold. The evenings he spends away from me he's busy studying art. I know because when he phoned the other night I distinctly heard somebody say, 'Draw another one, Mac—and this time put a head on it.'"

A prosperous-looking gent approached the desk of a swank beach hotel and asked "to be shown the best available room. The manager led him to its most expensive suite, pointing out, "This overlooks the ocean. The customer said it wouldn't do. So the manager took him to his next best accommodation, saying, "This isn't on the ocean, but it does overlook our magnificent swimming pool." Again the caller demurred. When he rejected a third suite overlooking the tropical garden, the nettled manager asked, "Just what have you got in mind, sir?" Came the firm answer, "A room that overlooks the rent."

After an hour probing the wood work the foreman scratched his head in puzzlement and announced, "This station is so infested with termites it's a wonder it doesn't collapse."

"Well, what's holding it together?" inquired the agent.

"Oh, say I can figure 'the to en ex' responded 'is the term it's a e ho ing hands'."

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR

(Mercury Staff Writer)

When Pottstonians go on a vacation there is no telling where they are liable to wind up until the drop you a line.

Some go visiting their old home town just as Mr. and Mrs. G. Tunnicliffe of Pottstown RD 3, did when they traveled to England for their vacation.

They sent The Mercury Vacation Editor a card depicting a scene from Trentham garden, near Stoke-on-Trent.

"It's best wishes to all our friends in Pottstown. We are having a good time visiting the home town."

AFTER visiting the Rocky Mountain National park, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Wersler and and Mrs. Charles Stauffer. They all are of Boyertown.

The Boyertown group left this area to escape the heat and wound up on the Jersey shore, where the sun is plenty hot, so they say.

St. Gabriel's Auxiliary Plans Picnic on Aug. 25

The Ladies auxiliary of St. Gabriel's lodge has set aside Aug. 25 for its picnic at Sunnybrook.

According to President Mrs. Mary Tufani, the outdoor gathering will be in the form of a covered dish supper which will get underway at 6 p. m.

Mrs. Tufani is being assisted with arrangements by Mrs. John Bracaglia.

In 1952 the United States used almost nine trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stauffer entertained recently with a picnic supper honoring Mrs. Stauffer's mother, Mrs. Herbert Roshong, of Pottstown RD. and her aunt, Mrs. Stanley Lauer, of Center Square, who celebrated their birthdays.

Other guests included Stanley Lauer and son, Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roshong, of Oaks; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Leaman, Elsie Roshong, Holly Ann Roshong and Herbert Roshong, all of Pottstown RD.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Becker are receiving congratulations on the birth of their son, Thomas Kerry.

Drug Deal Gives Exporters Trouble

HONG KONG, Aug. 2 (P)—Hong Kong pharmaceutical exporters still are scratching their heads over a recent $300,000 drug deal with Red China which wiped out many smaller firms. The past February, the Chinese Reds bought up in one gram vials shipments of European-made streptomycin, used for injection to check tuberculosis.

Four months later, the firms in Hong Kong received word the shipments reached Canton: a sample was sent to Peiping, analyzed and found "not up to specification."

A Hong Kong dealer said he believed the Chinese used Soviet specifications which are higher than those of Europe. About 40 percent of the goods have been shipped back to Hong Kong where merchants are trying to unload. Some are being reshipped to Europe where it meets European specifications.

'Don't Pound Pulpit,' Preacher Tells Group

LODI, Calif., Aug. 2 (P)—Don't place religion on an emotional basis, Dr. Taylor G. Bunch of Washington, D. C., told a Seventh-day Adventist camp meeting here.

"Don't yell at your congregation," he advised, "because it turns people away from the church." And, he cautioned, don't pound the pulpit, wail or beat the air with arms going like a windmill.

"I can't imagine Christ, the world's foremost preacher, doing any of these things," said Dr. Bunch, pastor of the largest Adventist church in the U.S.

Growing of Tobacco Thrives in Cambodia

PNOM PENH, Cambodia, Aug. 2 (P)—There's a new industry underway in Cambodia—the growing of tobacco.

The first growing tests were made in 1948 by the Agricultural Research Institute, which reported "favorable results."

Since then, despite the war in Indochina against the Communist-led Vietnamese, more and more tobacco has been planted. This year, the dry leaf crop of tobacco is expected to reach 250 tons.

TV FIELD DAY

WINNIPEG, Aug. 2 (P)—A. C. Jebb, a radio amateur, said he received programs from 20 United States stations in his two television sets in one day. They came from such widely separated points as Baltimore and Oklahoma City.

106 Goats Compete In Kimberlton Judging

One hundred and six goats and kids took over the center ring in the big tent at the Kimberlton Firemen's fair Saturday.

Judging at the closing session of the fair and livestock exhibition began at 11 a. m. and ended early in the night.

Goats from New Jersey, Virginia and Bucks county were shown off before a full house. There were 17 classes for judging with four divisions in each class.

Mrs. Dualex Martin, of New Bucks county, won the Phoenixville Chamber of Commerce award for having the best herd in the show.

Crash Near Royersford Injures Car Passenger

Heavy damage to both cars and injury to a passenger in one followed a rear-end crash on Upper Lewis road last night.

John R. Hoffecker, 30, of 44 East Fifth street was stopping to make a left turn near the entrance to Spring Ford country club when a 1942 coupe following driven by Robert Lee Quinn, 18, Lunkhead struck the rear of his heavy 1950 sedan.

Ronald Gohe, Second avenue, Royersford, a passenger in Quinn's car, was treated by Dr. Harold Graber, Royersford, for bruises of the head and a fracture of the right thumb.

State policemen Alfred Kissinger, Raymond Beninato and John Lutz, of Jeffersonville barracks, investigated.

buoy line he looked around and didn't see Newsome. He swam ashore and checked the change house. Then he reported to life guards, who formed an eight member chain and found the body after five minutes probing.

English estimated swimming attendance at the lake at 100.

He said "The air was cool, but the water was warm. It takes the lake a long time to cool because it is a slow moving body of water. There are no currents out there, and the water wasn't very deep where the man drowned."

As many as 2000 swimmers have flocked to the lake on warm weekend days this Summer.

fortunate in having one more rain than we did here."

The dairy farmer also welcomed the rain.

Dry pastures meant feeding the cattle in barns when according to some, didn't help them a bit.

He Has No Worries About Sprinkling Bans

There is one man in Pottstown who never has to worry about the dry weather.

He is Herbert A. Gross, Grace and Mineral streets, who waters his lawn washes his car and takes as many baths as he likes and there is no ban that can stop him.

Gross has a well on his property which can pump enough water to keep three lawn sprinklers going and supply his second floor with water all at the same time.

Happiest of all farmers is the man who raises corn.

Corn this year is about a foot shorter than it should be. But Vernon Rapp, of Township Line road, noted that the rain was a good corn rain.

Yesterday's rain which brought some relief may come back again today if Peacock is right. He predicted cooler weather with scattered showers.

Yesterday's rain was the first measurable, nearly four hundredths of an inch.

Success car

of the season!

Topping a traditional Ford trend, the 1953 Ford today leads all other cars in bringing you the kind of car you've always wanted for the kind of money you can afford to pay. It's America's "Worth More" car . . . worth more when you buy it, worth more when you sell it.

NEVER BEFORE has a car enjoyed such wide acclaim as Ford during the past few years. And this year, with a hull-tight Crestmark Body that's the style-setter, a new ride that's unbelievably smooth, a choice of high compression V-8 and Six that's the envy of its field and a total of 41 "Worth More" features, the 1953 Ford steps even further out front to become the New Standard of the American Road. Ford keeps its value better than any other car, too. A check of used car dealers and owners will prove it. So join the swing to Ford. Take a Test Drive today.
